Foreword

The aim of the International Diving Association IDA is to train divers and instructors world-wide according to equal standards in correspondence with all technical and safety regulations. In order to unify the divers´ and instructors' training programs, IDA established its training program in accordance with those of CMAS and by the membership in CMAS Germany e.V. underlined this understanding.

All instructors of any associated organisation within CMAS Germany e.V. are automatically CMAS instructors.

IDA recommends their divers and instructors the material used by CMAS Germany e.V. for their studies.

Any specific material will be developed by IDA and offered to those instructors being IDA members.

General

Only IDA instructors and instructors of any associated organisation within CMAS Germany e.V. guaranty a unified training at any of IDA's diving bases or diving schools.

The trainers at any IDA-base or IDA-diving-school are obliged to only use diving equipment and train all divers following the technical and safety regulations of the country.

In case of missing or insufficient regulations of the specific country, trainers are obliged to follow the regulations valid in Germany.

Instructor-Examinations

An instructor is only allowed to pass the examinations, if all needed documents are shown in advance.

In order to become instructor of the International Diving Association, the candidate has to pass one of the IDA instructor examinations successfully. This examination could be an ITC or, in case of already examined instructors of other associations, a cross-over examination.

There are no other possibilities to keep the IDA instructors status than mentioned above.

The examination board will be called up by IDA and consists of at least 2 instructors/, one of which must at least be an instructor. At a maximum only 4 candidates are allowed per instructor.

Crossover-Examinations

NAUI-, PADI-, VDTL-, PDIC(US)-, and SSI-instructors can participate in an IDA-Crossover. This possibility of passing a crossover will only be offered to brevet stages instructor* and instructor. The future instructor has to pass the complete instructor's examination in view of his strong work for his association.

This is to advise that the crossover is an Examination and not just a course.

Besides the lessons, which inform the future IDA instructors, a theory examination and teaching presentation which is drawn for in advance have to be passed.

Furthermore, the candidate has to complete two dives in which he should demonstrate his ability to guide a diving starter securely.

A main sight is kept on the pre- and debriefing, buddy check and environmental behaviour above and under water, the beginners' safety as well as knowledge about the procedure of the rescue chain.

This cross over examination will last for 3 days.

Once the IDA instructor status has been reached, there is no chance to get an IDA instructor status of higher value by any crossover of another associated organisation. Reaching a higher level is only possible by passing the complete instructor's examination!

Special Guidelines for Associated Organisations

Guidelines for instructors of associated organisations of CMAS Germany e.V.:

- Instructor* will receive a certification for IDA Instructor* .
- Instructor can qualify for IDA Instructor by a crossover examination.
- Instructor can qualify for IDA Instructor by passing an IDA Instructor examination (ITC).

Special Courses

After successful examination, an IDA-Instructor* is allowed to begin teaching following special courses:

- SC Underwater navigation
- SC Group leading
- SC Night diving

After successful examination, an IDA-Instructor is allowed to begin teaching following special courses:

- SC Underwater navigation
- SC Group leading
- SC Night diving
- SC Rescue
- SC Dry suit diving
- SC Drift diving
- SC Wreck diving
- SC Sea cavern diving
- SC Medical-practice
- CPR-Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation
- O2-Course

Before an IDA instructor can offer IDA-special-courses, he has to apply for teaching these courses and has to proof that he has the qualification to do so.

The circumstance that IDA examination will be held world-wide leads to a restriction of practical state of knowledge. Therefore, the IDA-head office reserves the right to review practical knowledge in every single case.

In order to receive an IDA teaching certificate for any special diving course, the candidate has to send a complete and well declared documentation to the IDA head office.

The head office checks this documentation and in co-operation with the candidate and edit all defaults. After such successful application, the candidate has to send his instructor pass to the IDA head office for certification. The candidate now is allowed to hold and certify special courses as certified.

The a.m. guidelines are only valid for following common special courses:

- SC Apnoe 1 and 2
- SC Technique
- SC Ice diving
- SC Deep diving (40 m)
- SC Altitude diving
- SC Under water photography

Here is a list of special courses offered by IDA:

Special Brevets

Special brevets, for example Apnoe-, Rebreather- or Nitrox diving, are not available for application by a.m. offer.

There is an absolute need for extensive theoretical and practical training of these skills and, therefore, no way of passing any examination as mentioned under special courses.

For further information see the IDA requirements for certification – Apnoe-Nitrox.

Validity

The IDA instructor pass is only valid with two signatures of IDA-general managers.

The IDA-instructor licences I1-I3 are only valid for 4 years.

These licences will be prolonged under following premises:
